

Holistic Communication Skills Training

Leadership Development

What is the cost of poor communication in the workplace?

According to a Holmes (a voice of the global PR industry) report, the cost of poor communication has hit an overwhelming $37 billion. Also, 400 surveyed corporations (with 100,000 plus employees in the U.S. and U.K.) estimated that communication barriers cost the average organization $62.4 million per year in lost productivity.

On the flip side, this same report found that companies with leaders who possess effective communication skills produced a 47 percent higher return to shareholders over a five-year period. No matter how you slice it, effective communication is key to team and organizational success.

What is poor communication costing your company? Are you facing communication challenges, low motivation, retention issues, cultural differences, negative attitudes and egos in the workplace?

What's Unique about Our Approach to Resolving the Communication Challenges in the Workplace?

We develop a customized plan to meet our clients' needs with measurable results. Our behavioral assessments, group training and leadership coaching programs are designed to improve the workplace in the following ways: It provides clarity and direction, and better relationships with employees and leaders for a more positive and satisfying work environment. Which in turn promotes team building, increased engagement, improved productivity and loyalty.

Call Now! To set up a FREE consultation let's discuss your unique challenges and goals and develop a customizable training program with measurable criteria to reach your goals. We work with you as a team to resolve the communication barriers to create sustainable change and an environment where employers and employees can thrive together.

Communication Skills

- Influential Conversation
- Influential Leadership
- Body Language
- Time Mgmt. & more

Coaching Program

- Goal sheet Roadmap
- Behavioral Assessments
- Accountability
- Tools & Resources

Behavioral Assessments

- DISC Assessment
- Emotional Intelligence
- Motivators
- DISC 360

Health & Wellness

- Mindfulness Meditation
- Reiki Self-healing Series
- Individualized Health plan
- Integrated Healing Therapies

About Us: Adding value to your organization

Our depth of expertise and commitment to providing innovative business solutions enable us to respond specifically to your needs today and your goals for the future. We draw from our diverse backgrounds to provide clients with comprehensive solutions to the communication challenges they face. Each of our team members represents the best talent within their discipline, bringing a unique point of view to the table. We invite you to achieve success with our dynamic diverse team of professionals.

808.384.4048

info@athenahbc.com

athenahbc.com